DESPAISED HOODLUMS

Several hoodlums consume alcohol, drugs, and engross in numerous other abject misdeeds as they congregate on a street corner in front of a decrepit apartment building. The occasion, customary incomprehensible delinquency, in response to despair, maltreatment, abandonment, low self-esteem and feeling unloved. Suddenly, a car speeds up making an abrupt stop in front of the apartment building and gunfire ensues. Consequential, two of the hoodlums are killed and several others wounded. Within a few hours, several of the wounded and uninjured hoodlums return to again congregate in front of the decrepit apartment building. The occasion, customary incomprehensible delinquency, in response to despair, maltreatment, abandonment, low self-esteem, and feeling unloved.
