

Just got done watching the new Top Gun; I think "Rooster" should've been called "Headbanger", because that's what he was doing.

In a lot of ways, this is classic Psy-Ops, because he could say; "Oh, it was a classic rock song, not heavy metal." Doesn't matter; bangin' your head is bangin' your head, it doesn't matter what kind of song is playing.

Here it is, my b-day, and I'm gittin' you all with priceless knowledge; you all should be gittin' me.

Whenever someone says "No one's above the law," you can be sure that somebody, somewhere is above the law, it's just not you.

If there were really nobody above the law, then people wouldn't have to say it all the time. I'll just refer to my previous statement.
