

William Goehler JK77832

Mule Creek State Prison

P O Box 409040 B9/244

Jane, California 95640

Reply ID: v893

Comments

aremas@aol.com

Posted 3 weeks, 6 days

ago. Sorry for the delay

Favorite

Mr. Goehler--How did the following expression arise for you? "Without me the universe would be incomplete."

William A. Remas

aremas@aol.com

11.28.22

William A. Remas. Interesting abbreviation of your name: W.A.R.

But to answer your question; I'm reminded of the word SOLIPSISM: "a theory holding that the self can know nothing but its own modifications and that the self is the only existent thing, aka 'extreme egocentrism'."

Yet, considering the literal meaning of UNIVERSE, as 1: the whole body of things and phenomena observed or postulated, 2: a distinct field or province or reality...

It's easier to understand a universe defines a "whole system of created things", and there are as many universes as there are POV's. It is true indeed that we are each intrinsically the center of our own universe - even if that individual POV is an interpreted copy (facsimile) of a pre-fabricated "reality" postulated by some anonymous architect.

In which case; "Without me their universe would be incomplete", and I would truly be free - to think for myself; to observe As Is.

Fortunately for me I've survived 50+ years of rebellion to finally understand that That War - against fabricated universes - isn't necessary. Inherently I KNOW the difference between sanity and insanity, between right and wrong; and in that understanding I retain my autonomous confidence to maintain right views.

After many victories, Spartacus understood this at Mt Vesuvius, and urged his followers to disperse back to their different lands of origin. I get that now, at last.