

Date: 2/8/2023 6:17:32 PM

Subject: DON'T GET MARRIED , it's a trap.

Bro. I take my advice back , don't get married; I just re-realize how fucked up women or the like is again , it has been a while since I had to deal with one on the level of making right choices between me and other half slick -ass frauds ; and just how stupid they can be when it comes to their emotions and how irrationally they are in choosing their mates ;

they say one thing but their actions speak three different notes ; they want to be told the truth , yet every time you turn around , she's flattered by the same chump she always bitch about or claim she can't stand .

I for got that trying to figure their choices and mind out is like , opening up an atom with a pop can expecting to see evidence of the mystery to life ; if you are having these problems you have now with Ashely , it's only going to get worst if you get married ; you better off being the villain in the relationship ; because , in all honesty they want hero's yet soon as he go off to protect their castle, off she go and fuck the stable boy ;

until you find that rarity , the one that truly love you and will submit to you in ways you have not asked her to ,

but she just do it out of love and respect , stay away from that altar ; it's a trap .

i'm too old to play these type of games with these ladies with teenage girls constitution ; and yet they wonder why they are treated poorly , that's what they like and seek ; at lest in the west , I most go else were ;

stand your ground bro . don't be tricked in to that matrix. no matter how much love you have for them , they can't handle it appropriately , only a small fraction of women can , most can not . and it's a shame , because they cry for other men to support them when they have the power to make a change , yet they make poor and stupid ass choices ;

on that note , I leave them and their kind where they belong , out of my way ; love bro.
♥♣