Brandilarke! Hello!! ☺

So great to hear from you!! Your comment to my reply to you was SOOO cool to see! That doesn't happen very often, and so far, when it has, it never lasts. The time delays are just too much for most people. My sincerest apologies. For you to say it's an "honor" to help me get my words out and that you plan to keep transcribing my essays/thoughts/occasional jokes ☺...wow. I'm speechless other than to say, I REALLY appreciate that. People like you make it hard to feel abandoned and forgotten. Thanks.

Yes, by all means, please do write me on paper if you'd like. It's always great to feel that human connection (and also, of course, to cut the communication delay from months to weeks, or even days if we're lucky). I'm really curious what kind of Anthro research you want to work on. And system corruption writing... ha, sounds GREAT to me!
Take care. Sincerely, Dymtri
