"To Everyone Who's Recently Contributed..."

There's been some controversy and debate here on my little blog, recently. My thanks to all who've offered supportive or thoughtful words (often both!), and a reminder — I'm writing this on April 5th, 2023. No clue when it'll post on RTB. As of today, the ONLY comments I've received from RTB are two from Tenzin, one on "Parent Test Addendum" and one on "When Do the Rists Start". That's it. I've heard much more has gone up since, but only because a friend let me know of a few new replies to Tenzin from others, and I ~~also~~ believe a new comment came from her as well, on "Presumption of Whiteness". My point is, I'm TERRIBLY behind in learning what is said here, and I WILL reply to ALL supportive comments, but I can't do it until I actually get them on paper from RTB with the "reply ID" I need to respond. I'm very, very sorry I can't be more actively involved and current, especially with notes of appreciation to specific posters. Sometimes I don't even see your words for weeks or months! !! That said, I did send a reply to Tenzin's attacks, maybe 3 weeks ago now, but so far I don't think it's posted yet. Shame. Also -IMAPRTANT!! - I heard one of Tenzin's posts was removed? I APPRECIATE the concern and support from readers, so much! but please... don't have posts removed unless they are so utterly outrageous... flag them, I guess, but best is to post your own comment in opposition when you see something offensive. Post your support for me if you like (and I'll love you for it!) but don't censor other commenters, even when they're jerks. Again, sorry for the crazy delays in my replies... there's nothing I can do but wait to see your words. Cheers to all! ! —Dynamite!
