

REPLY ID: ewej

Dear Aya,

07-26-23

Howdy! Thank you so much for reading my blog and posting a comment! It helps to know that people out there are actually reading this!

I hope you had a good Lilla. For many pagans, it's customary to have a service for that day (or the night before). It's considered one of the eight major holidays.

According to "Wicca, A Guide for the Solitary Practitioner" by Scott Cunningham, "[i]n the past, bonfires were kept to encourage fertility, purification, health, and love.

There are a lot of various beliefs about Midsummer, including that that's when the "fae" are out and about.

I've always wanted to spend some time in Arizona! It's so pretty! I will say I'm not used to dry climates and haven't spent much time in the western U.S., but I'd love to check it out.

On rainy days I like to be alone in my cell and read while laying in bed. I enjoy that a lot. I'm not much of an artist - the drawing on my blog profile is actually courtesy of Pranymission, an organization that has sent me free books in the past.

②

I've seen on the news how you're breaking heat records out there. I hope you're doing OK and staying cool and hydrated.

Thanks again for writing and I hope to hear from you again!

Best wishes,

A stylized, cursive handwritten signature in blue ink, consisting of several loops and flourishes.