

Greetings Sis,

I know, I should not be writing due to the state of my mental health - yesterday I tried calling you, but my call was not accepted - B-(( - I don't know if that was on purpose or what - now I am unsure about trying again ... Let me write about the dilemma I find myself in - I happen to be the exception to the rule - 99% of the people on death row are guilty of the crimes they were convicted of and the groups that intervene for them know this - I been having to try and overcome this dilemma for over 40 years, but the fact that I am the exception to the rule keeps working against me - like now - you are receiving tons of advice and warnings by people that represent the majority ( the guilty ) which has you being super cautious and even fearful of doing something wrong that could jeopardize my life - which is causing a dilemma for you - since you have come to care for me deeper than you ever imagined you would ever care ... My dilemma is that you are unable to explain and understand the conflicts of your own emotions as the majority keeps its hold upon your thought patterns - I am seeking to guide you in one direction and keep running into walls due to the influence of the majority ! Frustrating and agitating my attempts to guide you in the direction - I feel best benefits me - it's the indoctrination dilemma of the majority rules, ( and ) there being no exceptions to the rule - play it safe and let nature run it's course - otherwise you will cause more harm than good ! While - I sit here shaking my head wondering how anyone can feel that intervening on my behalf might cause me more harm than good - I already been on death row over forty years - dying a torturous death daily - hitting brick wall after brick wall seeking help from a system that is not designed to correct itself and therefore works against me !!! Duh - what did this guy just write ???

Okay - in the past - I asked you to make copies of things I have shared with you and have received excuse after excuse as to why you are unable to do that - so - this morning - I have decided to post a copy of this letter onto my blog - just because - I can !!! Plus - it makes me feel better knowing - I have tried once more to explain the dilemma, I find myself in !!!

Now allow me to repeat myself - an artificial intelligence program - does not function on emotions or biases, and will respond according to the letter of the law - the letter of the law is its influence and it has no incentive to stray from the letter of the law - therefore acts and responds accordingly !!! Which will reveal a pattern of abuse - showing those responsible for protecting the integrity of the law by following the letter of the law - haven't done so and have even intentionally concealed their abuse to cover their own tracks of criminal behavior - knowingly being able to do so knowing the legal system is not designed to correct itself and therefore works in their favor as a criminal enterprise !!! Raising and answering the question of who will question their authority ??? ( The answer is ) An artificial intelligence program that only functions according to the letter of the law !!!

Alright - I feel somewhat better - even if I have still failed to get my point across - I have established a record of my failure for posterity and ideally used my blog to the best of my ability .... With that - I leave you with a smile on my face !!! B-))) Love to you and for you - One Eagle - xo
