

A Psychological Coincidence Or What ?

Sweetheart,

I received the following message right after sending you my last email and a copy to my blog - what a coincidence... Love you - One Eagle - XoXo

The late Kobe Bryant, the storied NBA star, was heard to have said "Everything negative pressure, challenges is all an opportunity for me to rise." It goes without saying that you live in a negative, pressure packed, challenging environment. What a great incubator for growth! Coal, under extreme pressure for a long period of time, becomes a beautiful diamond. Your life still has value and worth and can be used for great influence for good, even under the intense pressure you face every day. Dont grow weary in doing well!
