

Now on to cellie (5) I will refer to him as a liar.yeah! That is the best way to refer to him.He claims to be a Christian.He goes through all the motions studying the bible and he even teaches a bible study on the prison grounds.He is even learning how to write and speak Greek. However this guy is living a huge lie.All he does is to look to get high.I think he is very despicable and he uses a man that is a christian to get things that he needs.I do not if the christian new that this guy gets high would have anything to do with him.I can not tell him because that would put me in a pickle.He don't have any money of his own,so I do not know how he gets money to support his drug habit. So now you met my cellies,not a great bunch of guys to choose to live with.However I heard others cells have it way worse than what I have to endure.
