

Honey I don't want nothing of anybody else; so why are you focused on me

I don't want your cat, dog, cow, man or anything of yours. I've had so many individuals to testify falsely against me. Oh she was after this one and that one. What trips me out about people. They are so quick to believe anything that is not fruitful surrounding Jennifer Johnson name. There has been some people in my life that has believe some of most terrible things about me, that I thought our friendship and relationship was better than that. One while when things kept happening to me out of the ordinary.

Today, the Holy Spirit that is within me is grieved. Am I this little perfect little Christian woman who has it altogether absolutely me. But I know that when I fall short my God forgives me. According to 1 John 1:9. I am tired, last week something happen that shouldn't have. Basically I was persecuted and single out for wanting to go to bible study. I am in my word and has a relationship with Christ. All I want to do is worship. I don't want nobody's man dog, cat, cow, man or anything of anybody. For those who think they know my business and for those who think they know me but don't.

I don't run around putting my business on blast. I am gonna be 50 years old this year. Today is my wedding anniversary I have been married since 1997. I am not a whore. My body is very sacred to me. I am so tired of rumors about me, from others who are secretly jealous of me. For decades I have put up with the lies, bullying and mistreatment of others because they think I am so old because you push me in a corner where I can't defend for myself. Because you are authority or a inmate. I have had inmates lie on me to take the heat off themselves. I have staff ~~to~~ to connect to other inmates that always starting confusion but then hide their hands. Because my name is always ringing but if a person cared enough to see the truth. But however, they don't want to see any truth surrounding Jennifer Johnson because they are secretly jealous of me as well.

It doesn't matter that everyone don't like me. They didn't like Christ. People get's mad because I choose to be lead of God and not follow behind them. I've fast and prayed over and over about people mistreatment of me. Today I am ~~not~~ feeling oppressed and my anxiety is up. Because when that happened with attending bible study it really grieved my spirit. The things going on with our bible study and Christian books coming into the ~~institution~~ institution, you cannot get them unless you have a book has give grieve the Holy Spirit of God in me.

What times are we living in when we don't want people to receive the word of God. But many in leadership claim to love Jesus ~~but~~ but are being a hindrance to the children of God behind the walls.

Rather speak the truth than be popular with man because at the end of the day I have to give account for what I say and do on judgment day. Nobody want to hear they are wrong. But we are quick to chastise others. How can we chastise someone else when our house is not in order. Many of the old time offenders are getting tired. I know I am tired worn out with griefs of Suffering persecution and hardship because I want to serve Christ. Which I have a church home outside the walls. What I am is not just because I am here.

Women are very passive being behind the walls. Except for a some they stand up to what ever and whenever. I am asking every church over the whole nation to pray for me as I continue to endure persecution and hardship. All I want to do is better myself, worship and come home to my family.

Love your sister in - Christ
Jennifer D. Johnson
