

"Turn the Tables"

I think the media should stop covering mass shootings. They should not be posted on social media. Because there has been so many attempts and a mass shooting in Kentucky where multiple victims was involved in the Kentucky Shoot. Surprisingly, we are not keeping in mind there are copycats out there who are driven by destruction. I truly don't understand why we promote certain things. For example, when Donald J. Trump was shot during ~~the~~ his campaigning.

Certain media outlets just keep kept playing what happened that day. Many of the viewers, such as myself, thought they are promoting for another incident to happen. Surely, another perpetrator tried to hurt Trump. This type of behavior should not be ~~edify~~ edified too much. Cause someone who suffers with addictive behavior is going to get a natural high off the incident. Seeing it themselves, this is a good ideal. Let me see if I can do it better.

The society we are living, is loaded with those types of people that gets a natural high off of destruction. So I believe that media once again stop covering and edifying these mass shootings and placing them on social media. I feel the only time the mass shooting should be mentioned is when there are manhunt. That will kill that totally for the people who want to go down in history for the wrong reason.

written by
Jennifer Johnson