

I betchya' won't be able to "rest", until you figure out this riddle:

When is the "rest", truly the rest.

(Hint: put another "r" in front of the first "r", what do you get? When is that the rest?)

(Full disclosure: I left this message on my attorney's voice-mail; so it's out there already, maybe. My lawyer probably just e-rased the message, anyway)
