Dear " y "

I appreciate you letting me know that you're enjoying my writing. Unfortunately, what you just read is the final page of the stories I had previously written. So now I'm at a loss for any kind of subjects with which to share about. If YOU have any ideas, or perhaps have some questions that you would like answered, I would be more than happy to supply you with what I hope will be an interesting read. Please write back soon.
