Hi Spirally! Recently got your comment on my post, "What's in my Prison Journal? (my sis & Coby)". Hmm... that's a tough comment to reply to, cuz... lol, I mean, it seems to say a lot, yet it says so little! Anyway, I sure appreciate knowing that you or anyone is listening, as you said. Thanks. I wonder what pain you were referring to from my post, though. I wrote about 2 distinct things as I recall, both quite painful in their own ways. Family stuff and Coby stuff. Both cut me deeply. Incidentally, I welcome "blithe" comments too - please don't hold back just because you can't gush everything out! " I was really curious what was on your mind from reading that journal entry, even if just a taste. I say it was ok to "respond blithely". "o Then again, I'm not really even sure what "blithe" means, now that I think about it. Ha.

Thanks for the transcription... yes, I too hope those help get others to read my posts. It truly gets disheartening to feel like no one does, and the only way I can tell is if people leave comments, which is infrequent. Thanks for giving me courage to keep treading water.

Sincerely, Dymitri
