

Asiyu Carla,

I hope this doesn't find you as confused as me - I feel like a drowning man experiencing the same damn dream over and over as I yell for help on a crowded beach, full of professing lifeguards and no one is hearing me as I grasp for breath - HOW can so many people who profess to be opposed to capital punishment ignored the overwhelming evidence of my false conviction !?! I mean if capital punishment is wrong - why isn't railroading someone and sending them to death row - worse ??? And keeping them there for well over four decades while blatantly ignoring the evidence pointing out the false conviction - So its not alright to execute someone, but you can torture an innocent man for decades, with the threat of death !?! While his plea's for help go unanswered year after year - With the mind set of - at least the poor bastard is still alive ...

I've been held silent far to long and when I come up with a way to have my voice heard - it too gets ignored by everyone professing to be opposed to capital punishment - will someone please explain that to me ? I'm going to post this on my blog and the website ' Life on Death Row ' as I continue to drown in a lake / ocean of apathy ...

I can't wait to read your response - love - One Eagle
